

ABOUT THE AUTHOR:

Dan Poynter is past president of the Parachute Industry Association, past chairman of the Board of the U.S. Parachute Association, an expert parachutist with all the highest licenses and ratings, a pilot and a master parachute rigger who has written more books on parachutes and skydiving than any other author. He has made more than 1,200 jumps since 1962. Dan made the North Pole jump in 1994 and directed the International Parachute Symposium in 1997 and 1999.

Dan is one of sport parachuting's most energetic, experienced and respected leaders. Of the 81 books he has written, seven are on parachutes and skydiving. He lives in Santa Barbara. DanPoynter@ParaPublishing.com